

SAMWAD

Marathwada Mitra Mandal's College of Architecture has been conducting the Samwad Lecture Series since the Academic Year 2019-2020 with a different theme every year. The theme for this Academic Year was Beyond Architecture. Various eminent Architects who have stepped beyond Architecture and made their mark in allied fields were invited to share their journey and work with the students. The sessions and interactions with the speakers helped the students to explore different fields related to Architecture and expand their horizons.

TRADE CENTER

Ar. Ameya Vaidya graduated from BAPS, Pune in the year 2001. After graduation he has worked with eminent architects like Ar. Harishchandra Dangle, Ar. Vyas Bhander, Ar. Madhav Joshi, Ar. Vikas Thite. He has an extensive experience in Building design / Construction Technology / Site & consultant coordination, etc. for various projects like Housing, Retail, Industry, Hospitals, etc. He has an inclination towards furniture design which provided him to design a chair which is aesthetically and functional for use with some other prototypes. Planning and designing of many housing assignments as per client's requirement were successfully completed in addition with two large size industrial design development projects in Aurangabad. Considering a good exposure in working large size projects in field of architecture added an experience in the profession, which would be helpful and easy to share acquired knowledge and experience with the young students. He has been into teaching from 2018 and has been actively teaching since then. Apart from Architecture he has been interested and liking for camera painting, have showcased many of my artwork in various exhibition, and art expo which helped me to expose my interest and gain some knowledge in art too.

ON MY PLATE

Ar. Aparna Surte after graduating with a degree in Architecture from MMCOA, Pune and a Master of Science in Historic Preservation from UT Austin, Aparna worked with Jacobs Engineering, a multinational consulting firm for 10 years, first in the United States and then in India. Her job as a consultant took her to every corner of the USA and she found herself cooking and recreating many dishes from all the amazing world cuisines she was able to taste on her travels. It was rapidly becoming more obvious that she was choosing more about the right percentage of acidity in her Nono Chain rather than her reports and spreadsheets. There had to be a better way to use her eye for detail, artistic sensibilities and self-taught culinary skills. She took a giant leap of faith, said goodbye to her job and founded her food venture, Poshiki, in 2015. With Poshiki, she explored every aspect of food she was interested in, including several Asian food pop-ups, cooking workshops and even made some puppy cakes. All of this led to her true calling - Food Styling. She now works independently as a Food Stylist for advertising and media in Mumbai after a two year stint with Nono Tender Food Styling and Consulting.

Venue:
1st Floor
Seminar

Madhav Joshi, an architect from BKPS College of Architecture, Pune of 1984 batch completed his masters in Urban Planning from IIT Kharagpur, in 1986. He heads Madhav Joshi and Associates, which he established in Pune in 1998 after having upon urban planning and architectural projects for an NGO.

His studio is a hub of architectural creativity, designing projects that explore new frontiers of contextual modernism as a consciously adopted approach rather than a style. The firm is reputed for its unique architectural portfolio with projects ranging from hotels to high end residences, housing, IT and corporate offices to institutional campuses. The firm also undertakes master-planning and urban design projects. Run by passionate designers, the studio specializes in avant-garde minimalistic design and is known for the discerning choice of projects it undertakes and the intensity with which it works on them to the last detail.

Madhav Joshi's inspirations of architecture can be often traced back to his native place Wai, a temple town on the banks of river Krishna. His architecture is austere in expression yet rich in experience, straight forward in approach yet profound in meaning and international in spirit yet rooted in its context. He is an active member of the Indian Institute of Architects (IIA), Institute of Town Planners of India (ITPI), Indian Institute of Interior Designers (IIID), Institute of Valuers and Architects Engineers and Surveyors Association (AESAs). Madhav Joshi has won many awards for his work, the most notable ones being the JK Cement Green Architecture International Award 2010, the JK Cement Architect of the Year Award 2011, JK Cement Indian Architecture Commendation Award 2013, JK Cement Green Architecture International Award 2015, Tata TISCON RAISE Award 2012, IIA Award 2019, AESA Award 2019, Artists in Concrete Award 2011, 2012, 2013; and CWAB 2.0 Awards 2016; just to mention a few. Some of his projects were part of the exhibit in 'State of Architecture in India', at NGMA Mumbai. He is a regular on jury panels of many awards & schools of architecture and has delivered lectures and presented his works widely.
